Appendix A - Supply from Planning Permissions

The calculated supply from planning permissions is 4,042 units (net)

Of these sites, 2,752 are anticipated to be delivered in the next 5 years, of which about 540 come from Poundbury phase 2, 3 and 4 permissions. The remainder of Poundbury, the Hardy Complex and the estimate for permissions that lapse (which may be re-submitted) are anticipated to come forward in the remaining plan period.

Source	Method of Assessment	Avoiding Double Counting
Planning Permissions All live planning permissions 'not implemented' and those parts 'under construction' at 1st April 2014.	 All extant planning permissions relating to housing have been included in this source, with the net outstanding housing units used to calculate the total housing supply (ie deducting any units to be demolished and any units completed in the previous years). The sites have not been through any further assessment process as the development potential has been assessed through the planning application process. All sites are included in the total housing supply, as it is likely that even where consent could lapse these sites will be delivered over the longer period. For inclusion within the 5 year supply, a lapse rate of 5% for the non-implementation of planning permission has been deducted. This rate of non-implementation is precautionary, when checked against the average lapse rate of 2% for planning consents in recent years (see Table A.1). This also provides some flexibility on the likely delivery timescales of the larger sites which may not be fully built out within the five years. Two of the larger sites have been dealt with separately because of their slightly unique circumstances. These were: POUNDBURY, DORCHESTER – where there is extant permission for over 1,200 units from phases 2, 3 & 4. The highest sustained build rate over any three year period was 114dpa (2004/7). Applying the same 5% discount, a delivery rate of 108dpa has been assumed. It is clear that a significant amount of the development will be implemented outside the 5 year period. THE FORMER HARDY ACCOMMODATION COMPLEX, PORTLAND – where the implementation of the remaining 384 units has stalled. No allowance has been included in the 5 year supply at the current time. However a section 106BA application (ref WP/14/00564/OBL) has recently been submitted which will specifically address the alleged viability issues and potentially bring the development forward within the 5 year period. 	All live planning permissions have been mapped in GIS. Existing SHLAA sites, newly identified sites and Minor Identified Sites have been overlaid. Where duplicates occur, the planning permission record remains and the other sources of site are redrawn or deleted.

The following tables lists the total number of units (gross) permitted for open market housing and lapse rates for a 3 year sample. Lapse rate is calculated based on number of dwellings lapsed during a year as a % of number of dwellings with outstanding planning permission at the start of that year. The data has been broken down by authority and year. The overall lapse rate indicated by this evidence is 2.0%.
