Dear Ed

Further to my email below we have now been able to access relevant documents associated with this submission.

We note from the Consultation Statement that the community was in touch with the Council's conservation team in response to our Regulation 14 comments. We therefore assume that all heritage issues associated with the Plan, and its site allocations in particular, meet with the approval of the Council and this is therefore to confirm that we are happy to defer to your authority in the resolution of any outstanding matters.

Kind regards

David

Dear Ed

Many thanks for the consultation below.

I am working at home for a couple of days and am having difficulty gaining remote access to anything on the internet (for whatever reason). This means I cannot access the documents on the Council's website concerning this consultation. Matters may rectify themselves at some point during today but if not I suspect proper consideration of the submission will have to wait until I am in the office again on Monday.

In the meantime I attach a copy of our Regulation 14 Pre-Submission consultation response. You will see that it highlights the desirability of further evidence/clarification concerning the proposed site allocations but essentially is willing to defer to your authority on the outcome of those exercises. At the same time it probably behoves us to review the submission documents to be able to reaffirm that that is our position, which brings us back to my point above.

Apologies for all this confusion and the inconvenience to you. I'll be in touch again as soon as I can.

Kind regards

David
